Plagiarism check through software

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is one of the most common types of unethical practices or publication misconduct, where an author deliberately uses another's work without permission, credit, or acknowledgment.

According to the Merriam-Webster online Dictionary, to “plagiarize” means:

1. To steal and pass off (the ideas or words of another) as one's own
2. To use (another's production) without crediting the source
3. To commit literary theft
4. To present as new and original an idea or product derived from an existing source.

Plagiarism includes literally copying, paraphrasing, duplicate submissions etc. Words, thoughts, ideas, data, illustrations, tables, drawings, music, statistics, etc. may also be plagiarized. Some of the common examples of plagiarism are as under:-

1. Show someone else's work as your own;
2. Copying words or ideas from someone else's work without giving credit;
3. Giving incorrect information about the source, making it impossible to find the source;
4. Buying, stealing or borrowing assignments, experiments, results, etc.;
5. Using ideas of someone else without crediting the originator;
6. Re-using an existing published paper in a different journal including translated articles;
7. Copying/reproducing, in part or whole one's own published work without giving proper reference to that work. This is known as self-plagiarism;
8. Paraphrasing existing text of others and present it as yours;
9. Using/copying so many words or ideas from another source that it makes up the majority of your research work, whether you give credit or not and;
10. Asking someone else to write for you

Most cases of plagiarism can be avoided by citing of relevant sources.

Objectives of Anti-Plagiarism

1. Inculcate the habit of respecting the academic integrity and discipline.
2. To identify any act of dishonesty in academic work constitutes academic misconduct.

The proposed workflow

1. The research scholar should submit the soft copy of the thesis for the plagiarism check to the examination section through a CD.
2. Checking shall be done excluding the bibliography, index and references.
3. During the initial plagiarism check the thesis shall not be added to the data repository.
4. The anti-plagiarism report will be generated and mailed back to the student, guide, co-guide and the Registrar (Evaluation).
5. A letter from the office of Registrar (Evaluation) to this effect will be sent to the guide, co-guide and student.

Permitted Similarity index \leq 25%.

6. The thesis can be printed and submitted to the examination section only if a letter to this effect is issued to the candidate, guide and co-guide.
7. The candidate shall mandatorily produce the anti-plagiarism report as a part of the thesis.

The Research and Development Cell of Adhiparasakthi College of Arts and Science, Kalavai is using free version software for checking plagiarism of Ph.D thesis and M.Phil Dissertations.

RESEARCH ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The College has a Research Advisory Committee that acts as a supporting system for staff to pursue their research career successfully along with teaching and for students to initiate their research career. The Research Advisory Committee comprises of Principal and HoDs of Research departments. Staff members who have an aptitude for research and those who provide guidance to pursue research are also selected as its members.

The committee meets periodically to monitor the progress of the developments of research activities in the College. It primarily motivates and urges the faculty members to register for Ph.D. and to publish papers in scientific journals, and takes initiatives to enlighten the faculty on the availability of research grants of different funding agencies.

M.Phil. in Biochemistry, Computer Science and Microbiology were inaugurated from 2004-2005. Ph.D. programmes in Biochemistry and Microbiology were inaugurated from 2008-2009. M.Phil. in Commerce was introduced from 2009. Ph.D. programme in Computer Science was inaugurated from 2013-2014. M.Phil in Mathematics was introduced from 2018-2019. Ph.D in Commerce was introduced from 2019-2020.

In 2010, the Research Advisory Committee, with the object of promoting research activity, recommended that all eligible staff be encouraged to apply for approval as M.Phil. and Ph.D. research supervisors from the university. Accordingly, all eligible staff members submitted applications for approval to Thiruvalluvar University and were duly approved. Now they are guiding M.Phil. and Ph.D. scholars admitted to the College.

MAJOR RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE RESEARCH ADVISORY COMMITTEE

- To develop an aptitude for research among both staff and students
- To encourage all staff to pursue M.Phil. and Ph.D. courses
- To encourage both faculty and students to submit research proposals and write research papers and publish in international and national journals
- To encourage all departments to have MoU with relevant industries and research institutions

IMPACT OF THE RECOMMENDATIONS

- More staff members have completed M.Phil and enrolled for Ph.D.
- More research papers (18) were published by staff and students in national and international journals during the period 2020-2021
- Now there are 6 Ph.D. guides in various disciplines.

The Committee also encourages the research departments to conduct guest lectures by inviting experts from various fields to kindle the research interest among the faculties and students and to enhance the quality of research.

As a result of the Research Advisory Committee's efforts, students have come out with many research initiatives. Research thrust has been infused in the M.Sc and MCA students who are carrying out projects. Ph.D. students are working on their dissertation.
